Course Topic: Fashion stylists seek to create a visual story that is reflective of the fashion zeitgeist. In this course learners will combine creative and technical skills with trend research, (while exploring their styling aesthetic), to develop a styling portfolio of visually engaging fashion images and concepts. Learners will have the opportunity to hone their skill set, providing art direction and project management for their individual photoshoots and styling projects. Course topics will include foundational knowledge of the history of fashion styling, editorial and product styling, personal styling, photoshoot production, portfolio development and promoting yourself as a fashion stylist. The course content will also explore the diverse careers in fashion styling, including: styling for print, editorial, lifestyle, television and film, retailing and visual display in fashion and related industries.
