The Bio/Diversity Project
Fall 2022

The Bio/Diversity Project Internship Program

Help diversify the environmental sciences and develop the next generation of environmental science leaders, stewards, and scientists by working as an environmental science outreach educator in local K-12 schools. Receive training, mentorship, and work experience while networking with leaders from Saguaro National Park and fostering gender and racial equity within the environmental fields.

Apply at biodiversityproject.arizona.edu

- Priority application deadline May 1st
- Undergrad and grad student opportunity
- Earn 3 units of academic credit
- 10-hour commitment per week
- Weekly workshops on Wednesdays 3-5pm
- Semester-long placement at local K-12 school

Questions: Contact Elena Greenberg, Program Coordinator: elenagreenberg@arizona.edu